GOING TO SEE THE CORONATION

Sierra Arrives With the Largest List of Through Passengers in Years.

The Sierra from the Colonies and Pago Pago, was sighted at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and docked about 7:30 o'clock at the Quarantine wharf. Sydney was left on March 11 and Auckland on March 15. The time of the run from Sydney was fourteen days, twenty-three hours, and from Pago Pago about six days. Fair weather was experienced all the way here.

When the Sierra left Sydney there were forty cases of plague and on this account she did not go to wharf at Auckland, where elaborate precautions are being taken to prevent the disease from spreading from Sydney.

The Sierra brought eighty-nine tons of freight and the biggest list of passengers that has come this way at one time in years. A great number of them are bound for England to take in the sights of the coronation.

Between Sydney and Auckland a steamer passenger succumbed to an attack of heart failure and was buried at sea.

News came on the steamer that the Australian cricket team easily defeated the English eleven in the fifth and final international test match. A report was also received that an Auckland athlete had succeeded in breaking the world's record for the 120-yards hurdle race, held by Kranzlein of the University of Pennsylvania. The name of the present holder is G. W. Smith.

The Sierra takes 350 tons of coal here and will sail for San Francisco at 11 a. m. today. Passengers for Honolulu were as follows:

C. A. Arnold, Miss Mary P. Adams, Mrs. F. A. Baylis and two children, J. A. Butler, Thos. Bicknell, C. C. Bethune, Mr. and Mrs. Bealey, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coles, Mr. and Mrs. R. Craig, W. BARK KINROSS HERE IN DISTRESS

The British ship Kinross, forty-two days from Ladysmith, B. C., anchored off port yesterday morning. She was due at Kihai with a cargo of 2080 tons of coal for Alexander & Baldwin, and when it was seen that she was making for this port there was considerable curiosity as to the reason of her unexpected appearance.

On March 15 the Kinross arrived off Kahului, thirty-one days from Ladysmith. Captain Murray tried to get into the harbor to enter his vessel at the custom house but the weather was so rough that he was unable to do so. After attempting to enter the harbor at Kahului several times, Captain Murray gave it up as a bad job, and came to Honolulu, where he will enter his cargo of coal, and then proceed to Kihai to discharge. The main reason for the vessel's unlooked for call here was that some of her back stays carried away and Captain Murray figured that the necessary repairs could be made more expeditiously in Honolulu.

The Kinross's voyage from Ladysmith was a succession of heavy gales and big seas. Captain Murray is well known in this port and was formerly captain of the British bark Antiope.

HIGH WINDS AT PEARL HARBOR

The Work of Dredging at the Bar Delayed—Greater Capacity.

High winds of the last few days have delayed the work of dredging at Pearl Harbor bar. The ground swell became so heavy on Friday last that work had to be suspended until yesterday at noon, when it was resumed.

A night shift has now been put to work on the dredger so that with good weather the machine may be run for the consecutive twenty-four hours. It is expected that the output will be made 1,000 yards during that period. Mr. Haas, of the contractors, who is superintending the work, said yesterday that the dredger had been timed to put out 150 cubic yards in 150 minutes, delivered in 119 loads, showing an average of one and one-quarter cubic yards to the bucket load. Mr. Haas hopes to increase this by the addition of teeth to the buckets, the teeth now being on the way from the makers.

A second and larger bucket is being built as it has been found that the dredger has a reserve of power which warrants the increase of the load. It is thought an average of 1,500 yards will be reached when the weather permits continuous work.

It has been found that a three or four foot swell does not interfere with operations, and it is believed that the customary trade winds will not make more than this swell.

ROMANCE OF THE ANNIE JOHNSON

There has probably arrived at Hilo by this time a sailing vessel which has as wonderful a record as any ship that sails the seven seas. She is the American bark Annie Johnson, Captain Williams, now 20 days out from San Francisco.

The history of the Annie Johnson reads like a chapter of fiction. She originally belonged to Liverpool, England, and was known as the Ada Ireland.

In the fall of 1876, about two hundred miles from the Marquesas Islands, she was abandoned in flames, owing to the spontaneous combustion of her cargo of coal.

After 25 days of horrible suffering the crew of the Annie Johnson reached the Marquesas Islands in open boats, with the loss of only one man.

Now comes the most remarkable part of the story. The burning derelict drifted westward to Tahiti, a distance of nearly 2500 miles, and was picked up and towed into port by a French man-of-war in the summer of 1877, about eight months after her abandonment.

Her cargo continued to burn until May, 1878, when she was repaired, re-named and placed under the Stars and Stripes.

The Coal Export Trade.

NEWCASTLE, March 10.—The four-masted schooner Ariel sailed today for Mahukona, with a full cargo of coal from the Seaham Colliery. The ship J. B. Brown, which arrived from Sydney on Sunday, will load a cargo of coal from the East Greta Colliery for Honolulu. There were no arrivals of deep-sea vessels today to load for foreign markets.
